The Life After Rice series helps undergraduate and graduate students find answers to these and other questions with the help of Rice alumni, who have been in the students’ position and can relate to their concerns. During the interactive Life After Rice programming, alumni share professional advice on how students can advance their career and achieve success in life. Students benefit from this connection with alumni by gaining valuable insight and beginning to build their professional network.