

PRIYANKA Duvvuru '14

Priyanka Duvvuru is a Vice President at Stonepeak Infrastructure Partners, an infrastructure-focused private equity firm, where she evaluates renewables, energy transition and water projects and companies for potential investment opportunities. Prior to joining Stonepeak, Priyanka worked as a project manager for Clean Line Energy on the Plains & Eastern Clean Line project. She graduated Magna Cum Laude from Rice University with a degree in Civil and Environmental Engineering and a Minor in Energy and Water Sustainability in 2014. In her free time, Priyanka enjoys traveling the world, hiking, reading, and playing sports.

EILEEN Ong '10

Eileen Ong is the assistant director of programs at the Greenway Conservancy, the nonprofit responsible for the management and care of The Greenway, a contemporary public park in downtown Boston. She manages entrepreneurial programs that contribute to 400+ free programs a year and generate funding needed to maintain a beautiful urban space and the Conservancy's mission.

After managing multi-million dollar projects in the oil and gas industry at ExxonMobil for six years, Eileen transitioned her career to focus on the community and create opportunities that connect people to each other. She graduated from Rice University in 2010 with a B.S. in civil engineering.

RAJ Salhotra '13

Raj Salhotra is a native Houstonian. He attended Rice University and graduated in 2013 with degrees in economics and policy studies. After Rice, he joined Teach For America and was placed at YES Prep Southwest where he taught Pre-Calculus and AP Statistics. While at YES Prep, he co-founded One Jump, an educational technology nonprofit that connects high school students to enrichment opportunities.

Raj later returned to school, graduating from Harvard Law School with a focus on public policy issues and representing tenants who had been evicted from their homes. While at Harvard, he started Students With Ambition Go (SWAG) To College, a mentorship non-profit that provides underserved high school and college students mentors to help them get to and through college.

After returning to Houston in 2018, Raj deferred a job with Baker Botts to run for Houston City Council At-Large 1. He secured a spot in the runoff; however, ultimately lost to an incumbent. Now, Raj has launched Momentum Education, which combines One Jump and SWAG To College to serve under-resourced high school and college students.
